U. S. Take Notice
Saturn and the Moon
In Bryn Mawr, at 12
Rich Ergo Respectable
By Arthur Brisbane

(Copyright, 1925, by Star Company)

ABD-EL-KRIM stays up, and asks the protection of France's forces. Flying machines did it, hunting out the plucky rebels in their hiding places over thousands of miles of African land.

UNITED STATES, PLEASE NOTICE. Rabbits on the ground have little chance of escape. And Uncle Sam, with his gold, would have little chance against flying machines coming through the clouds.

LAST NIGHT, millions noted the planet Saturn sailing through the sky in company with the moon, a beautiful, unusual display. In the eastern sky they saw the beautiful blue star Vega, toward which our sun is supposed to be traveling, the star that in course of time will be our "North Star."

A few years ago it was believed that Saturn and the moon were not far apart and that both had been created to contribute light for man.

EVERY CHILD knows that Saturn is millions of miles from the moon and that the moon is only a little cosmic "donkey engine," lifting the tides of our oceans, keeping them sanitary through constant motion.

HOW LITTLE attention human beings pay to the real world above their heads, on the infinite space.

"Very nice," says the average American, looking at the sky, then he returns to the important question, "Shall we have light wine and beer?"

MASS. BILL AGAINST DRY EDICT

MOVE ON TO OUST ALL POLICE WHO SERVE IN COOLIDGE 'RUM ARMY'

Massachusetts—first to rebel in 1776 against tyranny by a usurping power—was again today first to rise against outside interference when a bill to block President Coolidge's tagging of local officers as Federal prohibition officers was filed in the House.

It was the first actual proceeding in the nation against the edict of Calvin Coolidge, offering to make any road-concealable a Federal officer by the mere pinning of a badge upon his bosom by the constable himself.

Also the bill was in the nature of a defense of State rights and against the snatching of State rights by the Federal government, regarding which there has been more and more discussion in the past few months.

FIREBUG IMPERILS 24 BRIGHTON FAMILIES

A firebug caused terror among occupants of a row of apartment houses in Warren street, Brighton, today, when the timely discovery of four separate fires about the apartment block, according to police and firemen, as well as in an automobile parked in the yard at the rear of the building.

Many of the occupants of the block fled from the building and were afraid to return, fearful that other undetected fires might be burning there.

The burning automobile, from which smoke was issuing in a sooty cloud as the oil burned, was noticed by a milkman, who aroused some of the tenants and also turned in an alarm.

Escape for the five in the automobile, the three flames in the cellar might not have been discovered. Mark Dunham, owner of the car, who lives on the first floor of the block, smelled smoke in the house as he was leaving it to help save his burned automobile.

Three were found burning in two barrels and a box in three different parts of the basement, firemen reported. All were quickly extinguished with slight damage, while the damage to the automobile was estimated at $100.

The bill drawn and presented by Representative James T. Welch, Democrat, of North Adams, came to the Legislature was preparing to adjourn, but the Governor's veto of the restraining bill, it was believed, would delay ending of the session beyond the expected time.

With the filing of his bill, Representative Welch crystallized into action the great wave of reaction against prohibition that followed President Coolidge's drastic order curtailing thousands of medals, Federal officers by his mere scratching of it would Representative Welch bill would prohibit acceptance of Federal employment by any constable or police in Massachusetts, under penalty of removal of discharge.

The bill states that no constable, city marshal, chief of police or police officer shall accept appointment or receive compensation, or perform any duties as police enforcement officers.

"Let People See What Prohibition Means"

Washington, May 27 (A.P.)—Mental tightening of the United States, so that the country "may know what national prohibition means," was urged today by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon, chief of the House Judiciary Committee.

He spoke in favor of a bill drafted by the Treasury to give the prohibition will power to inspect at any time a factory manufacturing certain beverages.

"It is common knowledge," he said, "that in wet areas beer is being sold. It can be stopped and should be stopped."

Mr. Andrew continued after Mr. Mellon's address, and indicated the St. Paul bill. After leaving the stand Mr. Mellon said the bill would not make prison sentences mandatory for first convictions for possession of intoxicants, except when possessed for sale.

He reiterated that the diversities of industrial alcohol was one of the chief sources of illicit liquor.

He said his bill would also write into law the right of ruin chambers to go to the twelve-mile treaty limit for smugglers and permit entrance of dwellings where there is evidence of prohibition violations. Authority to inspect suspected homes, he asserted, would become more necessary with the cutting off of the supply of illicit liquors obtained from industrial alcohol and rum run.

He also introduced a bill to permit retired army, navy and marine corps officers to accept appointment to dry law enforcement positions.

EARL CARROLL FOUND GUILTY

The charge on which Carroll was found guilty involves two counts. Carroll may receive not more than five years' sentence or a fine of $5,000, or both, on these counts.

Harriet C. Smythe, attorney for Carroll, immediately asked that the verdict be set aside as against the weight of evidence and the law.

Judge Henry W. Goddard, who has heard the entire proceedings, denied the motion.

Smythe then requested that sentence be deferred for one week, which Judge Goddard consented to. Carroll will be sentenced on Thursday next.

Carroll was accused of giving the prearranged testimony before the Federal Grand Jury which investigated the so-called "wine bath" party during which Miss Joyce Hawley, attractive young model, admitted she pushed about, undressed, in a bathtub alleged to have contained champagne.

In his charges to the jury Judge Goddard said:

"This charge of perjury is not to be treated lightly. Perjury must not be tolerated if grand jurors are to continue to carry on their important purposes. Here, of all places, truth must prevail."

QUESTIONS AT ISSUE.

"If you find that Mr. Carroll lied, whether or not he lied like a gentleman is not material. The law makes no distinction between such falsehoods and the common variety."

"The questions of this trial are simple," the judge continued. "Was intoxicating liquor served at the party? Did anyone get into the bathtub? Did Earl Carroll testify falsely to the February and March grand juries?"

"The testimony that a young lady lay on the bathtub at the party has not been contradicted here."

Justice Goddard then warned the jury not to hold against the defendant the fact that he failed to take the stand and testify.

"You have his constitutional right," declared the judge.

Coolidge's Home Town

Norhampton, May 27 (A.P.)—Joyce Hawley, the "bath tub girl" who figured in the trial of Earl Carroll, New York theatrical producer, will not appear in President Coolidge's home town next week.

Local dance hall had the show girl's home town setting, and she was a bit mayor William M. Carroll's conviction, she said she was engaged to marry Henry and put it this way.

"I'm going to marry the boy friend and he's going to manage me."

She meant that he was going to become her manager. She expects to start in a ballroom dancing act when her engagement in a current revue ends this week.

N. Y. MAN GOES ON TRIAL

ON GOLD RING CHARGE

On the unusual charge of sending misbranded gold rings through the United States mails, Max Harat, president of the S. B. R. Jewelry Company, No. 32 Nassau street, New York, went on trial today before Judge Lowell and a jury in Federal District Court.

The charge was brought by Philip Price, jewelry company, a Boston firm, to whom it is alleged the accused firm shipped rings marked "Harat gold," but which the Boston concern declared were below that weight.

Joyce 'Lazy, No Wanta Work,' Says Mother

Chicago, May 27 (U.S.A.)—Joyce Hawley may be famous on Broadway for her wine bath, but in the three-room rear flat of her Lithuanian parents in Chicago she's just "that lazy girl who no wants work."

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Dauplais—most Hawley—a little meat market and grocery, and live in the three little rooms behind it. Besides Joyce, who is seventeen, there are Eddie, sixteen; Berlie, fifteen; Jessie, thirteen, and Joe, ten. Joyce, before she became famous, was a housewife, and by that name her mother looked her today.

BATHED IN DAD'S BRANDY.

"I don't want my name in the paper," Mrs. Dauplais shouted, "don't want my girl to make a fool of me. Why did she do that? Maybe she will have to go to jail."

"There's she is lazy. She always wanted to work. She was always doing things. Even when she was a little girl she used to take her father's brandy and put it in the tub when she took a bath. She said it would make her grow big and tall. I haven't seen her for eight months now, but she's always sending letters and telegrams."

Jessie, the 12-year-old sister, also was bitter.

"All the kids laugh at me," she declared. "They point me out at school and say, 'there's the sister of the girl who took the bath in wine.'"

'Me? I Don't Give a Dam!' Chirps Joyce at Verdict; 'I've Got a Date!'

New York, May 27—Joyce Hawley, the bathtub girl, whom Earl Carroll and his stage director had lured in the "Vanity" as a "dumb dove," didn't hold this or much else against him when she heard today that she had been convicted of perjury.

"Well, I don't give a damn," she said when she was told about it.

"Do you know he'll go to jail?" a reporter asked her.

"No, I hope he won't; I wouldn't want my own enemy to go there. I think a good fine would be enough."

"But he certainly did it when he was there and was supposed to drink at the bar party."

"There was no party and I never started to get dressed and I sure have to be home when I do that."

Miss Hawley had a date with her "boy friend" Arthur Henry, a real devil actor, at the Hotel Astor and it was his conviction, she said she was engaged to marry Henry and put it this way.

"I'm going to marry the boy friend and he's going to manage me."

She meant that he was going to become her manager. She expects to start in a ballroom dancing act when her engagement in a current revue ends this week.

Said to Be the Leader of Gang in $5,000,000 Fraud

New York, May 27 (A.P.)—A prominent New York society woman will be arrested as the "queen" of a $5,000,000 State-wide stock fraud and swindle gang, Deputy Attorney-General Fred L. Lewis announced today.

His statement followed the arrest of Harry Acton, 33 years old, of No. 729 Riverside Drive, today at the Cornell Club on charges of being a member of the alleged gang.

According to Mr. Lewis, Acton was head of the Home Deposit Company at No. 19 Wall street, and worked through the State with fifteen subsidiaries, several of them being pretty women.

The specific complaint on which he was arrested was the alleged swindling of Emily Kirtland of $500. The charge is grand larceny.

OPEN CITY-WIDE DRIVE TO Wipe Out Diphtheria

A city-wide drive against diphtheria was begun today by Health Commissioner Mahoney with the aim of ending deaths by diphtheria by inducing parents to secure for their children between the ages of one and five years the immunizing serum. Deputy Health Commissioner Dr. Charles F. Williams conferred with several East Boston welfare workers and clergymen arranging for the campaign. Commissioner Mahoney today said Boston children have died of diphtheria this year, and in the same time the moral blame for the death is upon the doctor in the case or the parent. It is hoped to equal the records of Auburn, N. Y., and New Haven, where children were given the serum and there were no deaths last year.

DUNNINGER IN METAL FEAT FINDS MAN

Mental Wizard Reads Committee's Minds, Then Shows Whom They Thought Of

He can't be beaten! Dunninger, the nationally famed mental wizard, cannot be proved conclusively today to three skeptics, Boston Evening American reporters who set out to test his impenetrable mentality, that he could absolutely read the secrets of their minds.

With amazing mysticism the mental wizard read the Boston Evening American's challenge to antiheretics and in less than twenty minutes brought down "his man"—the person he was asked to find and bring to reality from the subliminal, as it was.

Nothing to work on but the three minds of the Boston Evening American committee, Dunninger found Michael H. Morrison of Dorchester, the next agent stationed at the Parker House construction site, opposite City Hall, the man the committee had concentrated upon.

READ 'EM EASILY. They fairly gasped aloud at the immediate success of the wizard, who almost directly took them to the spot.

Arrangements for the test were made yesterday and guarded with the utmost secrecy. Not even to the folks at home was the person mentioned.

At random the committee selected the taxi agent yesterday, not learning his name. He was asked to be at the same spot today between 11 and 12 o'clock, without any information as to the why or the where-for of the thing.

"Today when he was selected by Dunninger, who is at Kettie's Theatre this week, on said:

"And it was for a commission I thought you were after me. I A court writ, maybe."

HOW HE CONCENTRATES. At the appointed hour today the committee started out, Dunninger leading, and to his questioning all answered mentally, only.

From the Boston Evening American they started, turning the corner at City and Devonshire streets, proceeding in Summer street where the mental wizard stopped and said:

"Take me to City Hall."

At City Hall and the nearby party stopped again. Here the mental wizard concentrated with the aid of reporter's finger on his temple.

To Tremont, at School street, a little way down Tremont, in the direction of Bowdoin Square, then Dunninger whirled around, the girl reporter hanging on his arm, and back they went to City Hall.

"A taxi agent, I'm looking for," he said, but still not give away sign on the faces of the committee. In silence they followed him.

He crossed the street to the Parker House, they crossed. He walked down School to Province street. They still followed. Again he concentrated and the girl reporter again placed her finger on his temple. Without a word he went directly to the taxi agent.

"This is he, your name—Morrison or Morrison, eh?"

The committee smiled and were about to stage a complete fade-out set when the mental wizard brought them back to life. Not even they knew Morrison's name!

MIND SHARK PROVES HE HOLDS KEY TO LOCKS ON REPORTORIAL BRAIN CELLS

READS 'EM LIKE THEY THOUGHT IN HEAD-LETTER TYPE Dunninger, the mental wizard, tipped off by a temple touch of Miss Ruth Mugglebee's fingers knows what she and the others are thinking about. Left to right in the group are Ralph Larson, A. Frank Jones, Charles F. M. Gould, Miss Mugglebee, Dunninger and William Wheaton. This shows them setting out for the City Hall in an effort to "find the man."

American and Metropolitan Theatres for giving the children such a treat.

"That's My Baby," which is being shown all this week at Metropolitan Theatre, was viewed today by persons confined in homes of the Good Samaritan, Himmey street, Roxbury. Tomorrow the kiddies at Home for Jewish Children, will witness it.

Its performance has been perfect.

SMALL-SIZED ZOO IN HUB WHEN LINER DOCKS Charleston had a small-sized zoo animal show today when an elephant, two llamas and an antelope were being unloaded from the Yankee liner, Frederick Westwood, which came from the headquarters of the Dart Hagenbeck Company, in Hamburg, Germany, and are consigned to John P. Boston of South.

Hagenbeck's American representative, Wm. W. Weston, who had had in addition thirty-three monkeys, two flamingos, two pelicans, a rhinoceros, and several crates of rare birds. During the past year fifteen members died, and it was decided to unload most of the animals at Philadelphia and ship them to Nantux by rail.

It certainly is a laudable thing for a newspaper to give children in institutions a high grade, first-run picture, as we couldn't have hoped to get this picture for a long time in the ordinary course of events.

Little Cripples Made Happy by Picture

Crippled children, numbered 250 at Massachusetts Hospital School, Canton, were given a big thrill when they witnessed the comedy feature film, "That's My Baby," as guests of the Boston Evening American and Metropolitan Theatres.

Because of the children's infirmities, the picture was shown in the well-planned recreation room of the institution, at the edge of the Canton reservoir, which is the handiwork of Paul Harvey and which overlooks Great Hill Hill.

The kiddies were delighted with the picture from beginning to end. They followed the exploits of Douglas MacLean and the four-armed child who is featured with him with almost breathless interest.

The business of the children, many of whom in wheel chairs and on stretchers or who bound on crutches, was a sight for the gods.

One of the most interesting touches was the appearance of Miss Mabel Parker, teacher of music at the institution. Although sightless, she sat at a piano and supplied the incidental music for the film.

A girl sat beside her and explained the incidents being shown on the screen in order that she might play the proper music. Miss Parker is in management of the Boston Evening

DUNNINGER "DOING HIS STUFF" IN TREMONT STREET Dunninger proves to the committee of judges from the Boston Evening American that he could read their minds by pointing out the man they were thinking about and had concentrated upon—Michael H. Morrison, the taxi agent at the site of the new Parker House, who didn't know what it was all about until after it had happened.

Thanks for the Crown Prince Buggy Ride! Giddap, Nell!

Providence, May 27.—Putting two and two together, Providence police believe that somebody is enjoying a buggy ride. That is to say, you can enjoy a buggy ride with a $15 hard-working nag and a buggy which is candidly valued at the round sum of $5.

The buggy was stolen several days ago in South Providence and now a 15 horse of James Grosvenor, No. 35 Foxcroft avenue, is missing.

Grosvenor, however, looked the same door before the horse was stolen. The thief smashed the lock.

Slayer to Die in Chair New York, May 27 (A.P.)—Charles Goldman, West Indian sailor, was sentenced today to die in the electric chair the week of July 5. Goldman was one of four men who on February 7 murdered William P. Young, dairy vice, watchman, with an iron pipe as he slept.

Princess Shows Up All in Brown Wearing Pearls

New York, May 27 (A.P.)—What is the proper attire for a crown princess on her maiden visit to America? Crown Princess Louisa of Sweden furnished the answer in her first public appearance today in a brown ensemble.

Her coat was of brown satin, her frock of ermine de chine, beige color. Her hat was of beige color. Her jewelry was in beige. She wore a hat of medium height of beige color with brown silk lining and two closely limited, tasseled, brown beige gloves.

She wore a string of pearls, some conspicuously large. She also wore pearl earrings and rings, all of conservative design.

Princess Adores Jazz. The Princess said she loved dancing and adored American jazz. "To Sweden," said Princess Louisa, "American jazz is used exclusively for dancing. I do not dance the Charleston, but I hope to learn it while I am in America."

The Princess declined to talk on political matters of any sort. He remarked that his thoughts were naturally at this time especially with the citizens of this country who were of Swedish birth who were playing a very important part in cementing the friendly feeling between the two countries. He said he hoped to meet as many of these citizens as possible during his stay.

The royal visitors had a narrow escape from injury while the Macon, the municipal vessel, was on the way in from quarantine. The steaming apparatus on the boat suddenly gave way, and the ship careened crazily. She was swept several hundred feet from the harbor, missing the pier and the huge three-masted yacht Albatross, at anchor in the harbor. The Princess and the Princess's mother, Princess Adolphine, were not frightened—merely interested.

As soon as the royal couple landed in Washington they were met by the official reception planned for the visiting of the royal couple. The Princess and the Princess's mother planned to take up every minute of the stay in Washington. They will arrive this afternoon for Washington to be in the capital Saturday for the unveiling of the statue of the late President.

After spending Memorial Day in New York, the Princess and the Princess's mother will go to East Orange, N. J., Tuesday, to attend the funeral of the late President.

They will leave New York again June 4, visiting Yale University in New Haven, then continuing to New York, Worcester and Boston. On June 8, at Niagara Falls, they will spend the day.

Boy of 7, by Alibi Testimony, Saves Father in Death Trial

Proves to Jury That Lombardi Was Not Home When Wife Was Slain.

Seven-year-old Peter Lombardi romped about North street, North End, today, happy because his father, Giuseppe Lombardi, was acquitted of wife-murder, but entirely ignorant of the major part he played in furnishing the testimony that resulted in the acquittal.

The youngster's testimony before Judge Elias B. Bishop and jury in Superior Court was replete with human interest, and Assistant District Attorney Joseph Leonard, who prosecuted the case against the father, said it undoubtedly brought about the verdict of not guilty.

The body of Mrs. Lombardi was found in her bedroom on April 11. There was evidence that violence caused by a contributing factor to her death. The room bore signs of disorder. The furniture was disarranged. Her husband was arrested and indicted.

QUESTIONED BY JUDGE.

Judge Bishop was the first to take the youngster in examination.

Q—How old are you, Peter? A—Seven. I'll be eight on the 31st of the Three Kings.

Q—Do you know your catechism? Who made you? A—God made me.

Q—How does God feel when person commits a sin? A—He feels very bad.

Q—Are people punished when they commit a sin? A—Yes, they get punished quick.

Q—What happens if you commit a sin? A—It puts a nail in God's hand.

Q—You mean the Crucifixion? A—Yes. The kids, when they say bad words, they put a nail in God's hand.

Peter was sworn by Assistant Clerk of Court Walter Murray and Assistant District Attorney Leonard and took him in direct examination.

Q—Now, Peter, do you remember the Sunday when your mother was found dead? A—Yes.

Q—And that Sunday did you have dinner with your father and mother? A—Yes. In the kitchen.

No one else was there. We had macaroni and artichokes.

Q—What did you do after dinner with your father and mother? A—We went downstairs with the bike. We Q—What did you do after dinner and mother? I wanted to go downstairs with my bike.

Q—You are only a little fellow and you couldn't take it down? A—No, it was too heavy. My father bought it for $1.75.

And at this stage was given the testimony that exonerated his father of all connection with the mysterious murder.

Q—Now, did Papa come down again? A—Yes. I was across the street. He played and talked with me, and after he went up the street.

Q—And did you see your Mama anywhere at that time or after? A—When she said, "Watch out for automobiles."

Q—Where was Mama then? A—The window upstairs.

Q—Where was Papa then? A—He went up the street, did he stop and play with you? A—Yes. He gave me a nickel.

Q—After your mother told you to watch out for automobiles, did your father go again? A—No.

Q—When did your father go after he had been playing with you and gave you a nickel? A—Up Lewis street.

Q—Where was your father when your mother told you to watch out for automobiles? A—Up Lewis street.

Q—You didn't tell at first that your mother told you to look out for automobiles after your father had gone up the street? A—No, you didn't tell me about a lot of things.

THE RUSSIAN government discovers rich oil fields in Siberia, a quality better than our famous Pennsylvania oil.

Added to the discovery of great gold mines on Russian soil, that will add to the "respectability" of Russia in the eyes of "big business" men.

If Russia finds enough gold and oil, the country will probably recognize the Russian government.

Also, gold and oil may influence the Russian government considerably. Now Russia thinks it believes in Communism—dividing property among the needy.

But when Russia really has something to divide, oil and gold, in sufficient quantities, the program may change.

IN BALTIMORE, the learned Judge O'Dunnis told reporters they must not take photographs of the Whittemore trial, extremely interesting to the public.

Whittemore, convicted of murder in the first degree, was in the face of the prosecuting attorney and answered at the Judge.

Two newspapers published photographs, and the Judge said it was necessary to send the reporters to jail for a long time.

A precedent for looking up these newspaper men was found in the ruling of the Prince of Wales, later Henry the Fifth, of England, in the fifteenth century.

That precedent reminds you of what the cowboy said about oat soup—that "it was going a long way back for horses."

THE CRY OF United States Senators is: "Save me from the wet and dry question. I may be wet inside, but I must not be outside, if I don't say so."

Therefore, the dear people may decide the question of wet or dry, bootleg whiskey or light water, better, by referendum.

Statesmen, afraid of a question, are inclined to refer it to the voters, letting them do the thinking and take the responsibility. Many Senators ask for a wet and dry referendum already.

THE RUSSIAN government discovers rich oil fields in Siberia, a quality better than our famous Pennsylvania oil.

Added to the discovery of great gold mines on Russian soil, that will add to the "respectability" of Russia in the eyes of "big business" men.

If Russia finds enough gold and oil, the country will probably recognize the Russian government.

Also, gold and oil may influence the Russian government considerably. Now Russia thinks it believes in Communism—dividing property among the needy.

But when Russia really has something to divide, oil and gold, in sufficient quantities, the program may change.

IN BALTIMORE, the learned Judge O'Dunnis told reporters they must not take photographs of the Whittemore trial, extremely interesting to the public.

Whittemore, convicted of murder in the first degree, was in the face of the prosecuting attorney and answered at the Judge.

Two newspapers published photographs, and the Judge said it was necessary to send the reporters to jail for a long time.

A precedent for looking up these newspaper men was found in the ruling of the Prince of Wales, later Henry the Fifth, of England, in the fifteenth century.

That precedent reminds you of what the cowboy said about oat soup—that "it was going a long way back for horses."

THE CRY OF United States Senators is: "Save me from the wet and dry question. I may be wet inside, but I must not be outside, if I don't say so."

Therefore, the dear people may decide the question of wet or dry, bootleg whiskey or light water, better, by referendum.

Statesmen, afraid of a question, are inclined to refer it to the voters, letting them do the thinking and take the responsibility. Many Senators ask for a wet and dry referendum already.

AUTO HITS GIRL; POLICE NAB 2

Miss Margaret Peters, twenty-two, of No. 1 Elliot street, Dorchester, was on a cot at the City Hospital today, cut and bruised, but Raymond Delury and George Smith were not on their cot in Quincy, because they were taken from them in the early hours and placed under arrest.

Delury and Smith, alleged to have been riding in an automobile that struck Miss Peters as she was walking from a trolley near her home, are charged with going away from the scene of an accident without making themselves known.

William F. McKinnon, driving another machine with his wife, witnessed the accident and chased the automobile as it sped away.

According to the police, McKinnon ordered the two occupants back to the scene, but they refused to go. McKinnon then took the number of the car which he reported owned in the name of Delury.

Going to Delury's home in Littleton street, Quincy, the police took him out of bed and, according to the arresting officers, Delury said Smith, who lives in Fayette street, Quincy, and who holds no license, Newport, R. I., May 27 (A.P.)—Fort Adams, historic as an artillery post since the days of the revolution, is celebrating its 150th birthday.

An official visit by Major-General Preston Brown was the feature of a long program in which civic and military organizations were to participate.

Target practice with the 12-inch mortars that command the entrance to Narragansett Bay was to be followed by a dress parade of the garrison under Lieutenant-Colonel Samuel G. Sharpe. Later, navy and marine detachments from the naval station here were to join with the Newport Artillery Company, the oldest independent military organization in the country, in the celebration.

ABANDON SMITH HONOR SYSTEM

Northampton, May 27 (A.P.)—The honor system among students at Smith College is to be abandoned.

The announcement read: "The Smith College Student Council has announced a change in the method of enforcing the rules of the Student Government Association."

The council feels the need of enlarging the group of people who are really in authority, and since the delegation of such power is contrary to all principles of the honor system it seems necessary to abandon that system.

A plan is being proposed to have all the group of people who are really in authority, and since the delegation of such power is contrary to all principles of the honor system it seems necessary to abandon that system.

HERE'S WHY RENTS JUMP AS HOUSES GET SMALLER!

Cleveland, Ohio, May 26 (A.P.)—The national conference of social work, in convention here, turned aside from its many varied problems for awhile today to learn why building costs and rentals have gone so high.

Edward T. Hartman, State Comptroller on House and Planning in the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities, offered the explanation. "The more houses we build in the more it costs to build them," he said.

as the poorer grew the quality and the smaller grew the size and the room.

While house decreased in size and land values went up the owner income took a steady climb, he said.

Hartman showed that as the rooms diminished in size the rentals increased.

"The reason for this," he said, "is that we have turned over to private speculation the only commodity without which we cannot live, which is non-perishable and which cannot be multiplied."

GASLESS BOAT "RESCUED" BY COAST GUARDMEN

Portsmouth, N. H., May 27.—Five crew of the fishing smack Krinabray of Boston came ashore today when the ship ran out of gas off the Isles of Shoals.

So we made this new different toilet soap! Made it as the finest French soaps are made. Bubbling ready later the instant you touch it to water—hard water on the continent taught the French how! Lux Toilet Form leaves you with that delightful cared for feeling, that soft freshness, for which you used to pay absurd imported-soap prices! Intangible, but oh, so real! Somehow you feel lovelier just for using Lux Toilet Form.

Evanescent, delicious fragrance that a European perfume expert gave Lux Toilet Form—that elusive, half-sensed, half-dreamed sweetness that is irresistible! "Savon parfumé."

In its lavender and white wrapper, bewitching, immaculate, Lux Toilet Form is at your druggist's, your department store and your grocer's. Ten-cent stores have it, too. All the family may use it for both toilet and bath—it lasts and lasts like imported soap. 10c. Lever Bro. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

AMUNDSEN DECLINES TO APPEAR IN U. S.

Norpe, Alaska May 27 (A.P.)—Captain Roald Amundsen and Colonel Umberto Nobile, who completed the first aerial voyage over the North Pole from Svalbard to Alaska when they brought their dirigible Norge to ground at Vail, seven-day miles from here May 1, have declined all invitations to appear in the United States. They will proceed directly across the American Continent via Canada after they reach Seattle some time in June, and continue to Oslo, Norway.

Fragrance Marks Woman's Municipal Fete at Tudor Estate, Says Betty Alden

LOVELY WITH FRAGRANT Lilacs and wistaria, velvety greenward and formal flower beds were the Henry Duhois Tudor gardens out in Larch road (in the heart of Cambridge) in the old Brattle street region for the Women's Municipal Fete.

AND LIKE FLOURES from old romances were the maid and matrons who ransacked treasure chests and boxes to find old-time gowns and hats in keeping with "Olden Days under the Lilacs," as the League named its annual fete day.

NATURALLY, Mrs. Henry Duhois Tudor, who loaned her early Nineteenth Century mansion and its stately garden for the occasion, and her mother, Mrs. John Chipman Gray, were centers of attraction and admiration in their quaint costumes.

MRS. GRAY'S GOWN, a voluminous taffeta of soft blue, topped by a scoop bonnet tied beneath the chin, and Mrs. Tudor's flowered brocade of ivory white were much applauded as they led off in the fashion parade.

PINK HONOR landed Mrs. Tudor's straw poke, a most becoming effect as worn by that distinguished matron. And most on coming was the wide legged affair filled with fine black, worn by Miss Ruth Walker. Mrs. Tudor gave her pink muslin and shiny garden hat.

GREEN-BALE TARTAN, light of bodice and flowing as to skirt, was Miss Walker's costume, a creation harking back to past-Columbian days. Miss Charlotte Kennedy, wearing a broadened satin, was an example of early Victorian modishness.

A BRIDE IN yellowed satin and lace, Miss Carolyn Walker's costume brought forth a round of applause as she slowly paraded in dress passed in judgment before Miss Anne Sherwin and Mr. Holker Abbott.

MRS. JULIET GREEN was in her rich geranium red satin brocade, an eye-catching picture. The gown, a Worth creation and belonging to Mrs. Alpheus Hardy, had the stilted bodice and voluminous skirt invariably associated with the time of Empress Eugenie.

IN MODERN ATTIRE, Mrs. Robert Treat Paine, 35, Mrs. William H. Goodwin, Mrs. Ronald T. Lyman and Mrs. Edgar D. Shaw and other Municipal League leaders were much in evidence, seeing that the wheels revolved with smoothness.

MRS. GOODWIN was in gray. Mrs. Paine in black and white, and Mrs. Lyman in buff-colored. Those who were in the garden party were in the garden party.

AND LIKEWISE extremely smart was Mrs. Robert Treat Paine, in a French creation of black touched with white, a crepe of awl linen. Mrs. Paine wore with this gown a small chapeau, and pointed one shoulder a single garland altogether a chic and attractive figure.

THE TUDOR MANSION, built with the grace and simplicity of 18th and thereafter, was the scene throughout for the fete, at a delightful adjunct to the occasion.

HANDSOME EARLY American apartments, rich in treasures of furniture and furnishings, porcelains, wall papers, portraits and ornaments, decorated the rooms who passed from room to room, upstairs and down.

SPECIALLY INTERESTED in the house and its rare appointments was Mrs. Parker H. Kimble of Boston and Marblehead, who owns the famous town down on the Newton Highlands and as a result the drive proceeded with greater vigor. Figures made public today disclose that $75,444 has been pledged to date. Of this amount $65,000 has been reported by the entire committee on special gifts which has obtained cash and pledges ranging from $500 up to $25,000. The West Newton division teams are leading all others in the drive.

FIVE YOUNG BOBBERS HOLD UP N. Y. HOTEL MEN New York, May 27 (A.P.)—Five youthful robbers held up three employees of the Hotel Eldorado, 151 Fifth street, this morning and escaped with $100 they took from the safe. Earlier this week the cashier at the fashionable Hotel Ambassade was eluded by a robber, who escaped in broad daylight with a $5,000 payroll.

2,000,000 CHILD TOILERS HIT AS BIG MENACE

Atlantic City, N. J., May 27 (A.P.)—The competing products of 2,000,000 child wage earners form a much greater menace to adult workers than do those of 20,000 convicts, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, today told the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

States which voted for prohibition, income tax and woman suffrage, he remarked, have voted against Federal child labor proposals.

He held that it was ridiculous to contend that the proposed child labor amendment would prohibit a girl from helping her mother do housework or a boy from assisting his father in farm work.

"While employers' associations and chambers of commerce, struggle to say, are fighting Federal legislation which will take children out of the workshops and factories, they are at the same time fighting against the sale of prize-made goods on the open market," he said.

"Where the sale of prize-made goods has been prohibited the chief reason for the free worker, in like manner the labor of the child displaces the labor of the adult worker."

"It is inhuman to take a child

Distinctive Character

"SALADA" TEA

Has Character and Distinction

Another Boston woman, Mrs. Tuinilla, says:

"Rinsol does the weekly wash as no bar or chip soap ever did for me. A whiter, sweeter wash I could not wish, thanks to those good Rinsol suds. It's a great time and labor saver. My wash is out to dry hours sooner and Rinsol leaves me so little real rubbing to do, and it does not injure the finest things in my wash, or harm the hands. No wonder clothes last longer now. Eight months ago I found Rinsol and now I'd not be without it."

MRS. A. TUINILLA

Millions use Rinsol. Thousands write us letters like this.

A sweeter wash a whiter wash —this safe "no work" way

SWEET, clean, fragrant clothes—whiter than you've ever seen them! A whole week's wash—powder! Out on the line hours earlier! And without even touching a washboard!

How! It's easy. No weary hours over tubs and boilers. No bar soaps, no chips, no powders!

Now all you need is Rinsol. Nothing else—just this amazing new granulated laundry soap.

Just soak—and rinse!
Soak the wash in the rich, creamy Rinsol suds. The dirt loosens in the soaking and floats off. Then you just rinse in clear water. And hang out the cleanest, whitest, sweetest-smelling wash in the neighborhood!

Millions are doing it every week. Read above what one of many women right around here says.

Rinsol is new and different
In hard water or soft, Rinsol gives thick suds that loosen dirt and stains.

No hard rubbing. Even the most soiled hems and edges need only a gentle rub between the fingers to make them snow white.

Contains no acids, bleaches or harsh chemicals to injure white clothes or fast colors.

Saves hands—keeps them from getting red and wash-worn.

Whitens better than boiling. And smoothes, too! Of course, you can boil if you like, and Rinsol is fine for boiling, but boiling isn't necessary—it's just extra work.

Rinsol does all the hard work of wash-day for you—try it! Get Rinsol from your grocer and follow easy directions on package.

Ideal for washing machines
Rinsol is so fine for washing machines that the makers of 27 leading machines recommend it.

50,000 KLANSMEN TO PARADE IN SCRANTON

Scranton, Pa., May 27.—Fifty thousand members of the Ku Klux Klan and their various women's organizations will march in a parade here Saturday. Mayor Jerny gave permission for the parade provided the men are unarmed, but he declined to let the Klan use a city park for the parade and a recreational. The second band, however, has been granted permission for the Klan to use a city park for the parade.

WOMAN DRY AIDE OUT TO MAKE CHICAGO DRY

Chicago, May 27 (Universal).—Can I make Chicago dry? Miss Mary D. Bailey, assistant United States district attorney, will be making the question and just as she answers it.

"Not immediately, of course, but eventually," she said. "We closed about 800 places last year. The new ruling of Judge Ferdinand Geary of Milwaukee will expedite our work tremendously."

Judge Geary's decision that a cafe may be closed if liquor is found on the premises, instead of the usual prohibition of the sale of liquor, is a significant step toward making Chicago dry.

Miss Bailey already has taken advantage of the ruling and obtained temporary injunctions against two of the brightest spots in Chicago's night life—Frisar's Inn and the Moulin Rouge Cafe.

Chicago will be dry as the Sahara Desert within a year, so far as the glittering cases of night life are concerned, she believes.

Address all answers to "The Veteran Motorist," c/o Standard Oil Company of New York, Room 411, 26 Broadway, New York City.

Question Two
"Of what service has a Lubrication Chart been to you?"

THE motor oil requirements for the various makes of cars vary widely. Cylinder bores vary in size and there are differences in the type of bearings and in the types of oil feed systems. Changes in motor specifications may require a change in oil specifications.

Socony Motor Oil is specifically refined and graded to meet these varying requirements.

From my studies I have also noted a great variety of temperatures in the motor. The explosion generates about 3000° F. The exhaust manifold is about 1000° F. Piston walls get up to 450° F., bearings as high as 250° F., and the underside of the piston head up to 700° F. One can readily picture the need of not only a superior motor oil but also the need of the proper grade.

A SUPERIOR OIL—OF THE PROPER GRADE

A grade of oil that will properly lubricate one motor may be too thick or too thin for another. If too thick, it acts sluggishly and may not flow to the bearings; power is wasted in internal oil friction. If it is too thin, it will flow too freely and will allow bearing wear; oil will be wasted and the car may be ruined.

Socony Motor Oil and the Socony Chart are your protection. Why trust to luck?

In cooperation with motor car manufacturers, the Socony laboratories, by shop and road tests have determined and CHARTED the best consistency or grade of oil for each individual motor. A careful check of this data is made annually.

Therefore, I say, Chart Your Way to Safety by following the recommendations of the Socony Chart.

Edith, a niece, in town with Warren Halliday, drags them to Twin Hollows to spend the summer. Then things began to happen. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER IV. June 24th. Edith has just and Jane has just arrived. We shall spend the summer at the Lodge.

But I feel that Jane's victory brings her no particular pleasure, that even to go to the Lodge is a concession she is making against some hidden apprehension. Yet to show just how Jane's are most of these things, this morning Clara has been in a low mood, and I heard Jane inquire the reason.

"I dreamed last night that I'd lost a tooth," said Clara. "That's a sign of death, Mrs. Porter."

Fifth, however, has won in a way. Warren Halliday is to have the backhouse.

We motored out together today. To look over the Lodge more carefully, and Halliday to inspect his prospective quarters. He is thoroughly likeable, a nice clean-cut young fellow, not too handsome but many and with a good war record, and badly cut up at his failure to find a job for the summer.

On the way out I told him something of the history of the house, and a little—very little—of Jane's adventures concerning it.

In view of that conversation, it was interesting later that day, at the Lodge, to have old Thomas intimate that the house had not been something which had caused.

Experts Tell Yankee Manufacturers to Go After Export Business

New England commercial and industrial leaders were warned against the "inferiority complex" which renders Yankee merchants "panicky" and timid in the face of ancient "mercenary" and "bugaboom" flaunted by European competitors for foreign trade.

By Dr. Julius Klein of the U. S. Department of Commerce at the Foreign Trade Conference here today.

Speaking at the Copplemans hotel session of the conference, Dr. Klein said:

"There is nothing thus far on the European horizon to give us serious alarm from the competitive aspect. There is an all too prevalent psychological impediment—our inferior complex, that renders to accept in native and without debate, the intimation of some of our European rivals that because we have not, in many instances, been in foreign trade for a thousand years, we cannot hope to contend with their sacred reverence in this field."

NO NEED FOR FEAR. Dr. Klein declared American merchants are as enterprising and resourceful as their European rivals, and that the average American merchant and manufacturer can be completely relied upon to do the necessary and most profitable business of the world.

Recent comparisons in a wide range of commodities and overseas markets have revealed convincing evidence that American marketing and export policies are quite able to meet the stiffest competition. In fact, they are being widely studied and copied by our European rivals.

Other conference speakers today were: Guy H. Nason, of the Board of Trade; Earl T. Russell, of New York City; Joseph P. Locket, customs lawyer of this city; H. C. McCallister, of the foreign trade section of the First National Bank; Ernest W. Hatch, Cary Partners Company, Cambridge; who advocated C. O. D. parcel post service; P. W. Thayer, Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration; B. L. Hargis, United States Company, Springfield.

Great Crowd Certain at Memorial Game

By NICK HATLICK

CHRISTY MATHEWSON DAY at Braves Field tomorrow will be one of Boston's greatest baseball seasons, if any sort of darkness were possible.

A big crowd is anticipated for the game, which will be held at the Memorial Field, and a lot of generous Bostonians are expected to contribute to the fund for the relief of the Irish famine. The game will be played at the Memorial Field, North Cambridge, next Monday. The occasion is the 25th anniversary of the death of the great pitcher, Christy Mathewson.
